RUNAWAY HORSE IN A SALOON.

The Animal Rushes Down Stairc Into a Cellar and Later Returns by the Same Route.

A runaway on Michigan street, yesterday, culminated in a saloon near the Yellow Bridge. A horse attached to a light baggy broke loose from a hitching post about noon and dashed West on Michigan street at a mad gait. Several pedestrians attempted to head the amimal off, but it seemed that each effort to stop him only accelerated the speed After running five blocks the horse reached the Indiana-avenue crossing, and something in the street caused it to swerve toward the sidewalk in a direct line with the front doors of a saloon. The horse made a dash for the open door of the groggery, and, the next second, was inside, leaving the detached buggy at the exterior of the opening. Leading from the saloon above to the cellar a small stairway starts pear the entrance, and down this incline the rnnaway horse disappeared, and at the same moment the saloon keeper and his bartender disappeared out the back door. For a second the crash and clatter below was deafening, and then quiet reigned. After some time the proprietor of the place and his man went to the cellar with the expectation of inding the dead and mangled, but were disappointed. Standing in the midst the confusion brought about by his violent entrance, the horse coolly switched a fly from his side and whinpled a pitiful little appeal for aid. The men debated for a time as to the most feasible plan of ridding the cellar of the unwelcome guest, but were spared the trouble, for his horseship, with another switch and neigh, stumbled to the stairway and walked safely to the floor above, where he was taken in charge by the owner. The name of the latter could not be learned, but the incident is vouched for by a dozen people.

STATES IN THE BIG PARADE

General Carnahan Arranges the Order in Which They Will March.

Committee on War Pageantry-Marion County Battalion-Will Keep Open House-Encampment Notes.

General Carnahan, chief marshal of the great parade of Grand Army veterans that is to be the feature of Tuesday of encampment week, has asked each department to send him at once the probable number it will have in line. He desires this information to enable him as soon as possible to fix the time and place of formation, which will be on all streets between Meridian and Central avenue, north and south of Seventh street. These streets will be occupied most of the day, the grand column being formed by departments in order of seniority, as follows, except that of Indiana, which has the left of the line. The State in which the encampment is held is always the last of the column, with Illinois at the head, her department being the oldest. After that the order will be: Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Maine, California, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Vermont, Potomac, Virginia and North Carolina, Maryland, Nebraska, Michigan, Iowa, Colorado and Wyoming, Kansas, Delaware, Minnesota, Missouri, Oregon, Kentucky, West Virginia, South Dakota, Washington and Alaska, Arkansas, New Mexico, Utah, Tennessee, Louisiana and Mississippi, Florida, Montana, Texas, Idaho, Arizona, Georgia, Alabama, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Indian Territory.

The column will move in platoons of sixteen men, giving a front of thirty feet, with fifteen feet between each paltoon, the parade extending over two and four-tenths miles. In addition there will be a large | don, North Indianapolis, 28 members; Pernumber of bands and the department commanders and their staffs. Throughout the day 10,000 men will be moving over the line every hour, thus giving for seven hours of the parade at total of 70,000 veterans. This number will exceed that of parades of the kind in other cities, it being 30,000 more than were in the columns at Boston and thousands more than the Washington parade. There will never be another opportunity to see such a column of old soldiers who fought in the civil war. It will reach the high mark of encampment parades. Chief Marshal Carnahan will have his headquarters in a tent at the corner of Seventh and Meridian streets, and when the column moves, he, with the committee on review and parade as his staff, will lead. After they have gone over the line they will return to headquarters, and from there direct the march through aids and a telephone service.

During the parade no crossing of streets on the route will be permitted. From end to end the spectators will be kept from encroaching on the column by a strong wire and by police who will be stationed on each square. At intervals of three or four squares there will be openings to abord right of way on cross streets to the ambulance service and fire department, but with this exception the order prohibiting the crossing of streets in vehicles or on foot will be rigidly enforced. During the movement of the parade and for some time before there will be no chance of getting from east to west except through Maryland street south of Washington, and by the streets north of Seventh. To enable veterans to reach their places of formation and others who wish to go north, the streetrailway company will put in temporary switches at New York and Pennsylvania street, and at the corner of Washington and Illinois to permit the shifting of the cars from one track to the other, as there will be no cars run below those points. The most ardnous duty of the marshal and staff will be at the end of the route in clearing the column so as to prevent blockading of streets and confusion. Departments whose quarters are in the east part of the city will deploy on Tennessee and Mississippi streets south, moving through Maryland street. Departments in the west part of the city will go north on the first two streets.

Encampment Rates, Chairman Lazarus, of the transportation committee, returned from Chicago yesterday, where, the day before, he was with the Central Traffic Association that considered the extension of time for encampment rates. It was understood the association had consented to making the tickets effective on Aug. 23, instead of Sept 8, to give the naval veterans and those at a great distance, who would have to leave earlier than the 3d to reach here Monday evening, the benefit of a one-cent-a-mile ale was formerly a resident of this city and | rate. D. B. Martin, of the Big Four, said his position had been misunderstood. He was Journal and Sentinel. Now he is the owner | not willing, fearing a cut in world's fair rates by Eastern roads, to grant more than having the one-cent-a-mile tickets made good on and from Sept. 2. He was joined in this statement by lines east of Cleveland. The favorable action of the association as to the Sept. 2 proposition was unanimous, but the Lake Erie & Western, Pennsylvania, Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, and all other roads, except those with the Big Four, will make the rate good on and from Aug. 28. The Big Four even will de this from St. Louis to Indianapolis. and eventually, it is thought, grant the August date to the Eastern traffic.

> The Western Passenger Association has, as yet, done nothing to change its former action, which has aroused some feeling against lines concerned. This has had a disturbing effect in the association, some of the roads of which are making the one-centa-mile on contracts, and probably all will do so. The roads are apprehensive that their refusal to meet the low rate will bring about a strong influence against them when it comes to legislation affecting their interest, and therefore are inclined to recede from their position. Frem points in Western Passenger territory the rates are to St. Louis and Chicago, from Kansas City, $9.50; Leavenworth, $10; Atchison, $10.50, and St. Joseph, $11-the rate from St. Louis to Indianapolis being $4.80. This is one fare plus $2 for the round trip from the Western points named to Indianapolis. The St. Louis rate is arousing the greatest interest among the veterans and citizens in that city, who are coming to the encampment by thousands. In addition to Hassendeubel Post, that is to have a special train, with hundreds of passengers already secured, Lyons Post, of the same city, that a few weeks ago notified the citizens' execntive board that it would have here 125, yesterday sent word that it would have five hundred. Ransom and Blair posts will also have large representations. In connection with this matter Execu> tive Director Fortune received the following yesterday: Mr. William Fortune, Executive Director G. A. R. National Encampment, City:

> Dear Sir-The final action of the Central Traffic Association in regard to selling rates account of the National Encampment G. A. R., is that tickets may be sold Sept. 2 to 4, inclusive, for distances of over one hundred miles, and Sept. 2 to 5, inclusive, for less than one hundred miles. Individual lines, Vandalia and L. E. & W., will sell Aug. 28 to Sept. 5, inclusive, regardless of the action of the Central Traffic Association.

Yours truly, JOHN S. LAZARUS, Chairman Transportation Committee. War Pageantry.

The committee on war pageantry held a short session, last night, and discussed matters relative to the coming spectacle. It is the desire that the parade of floats and militia connected with the pageant take place between 9 and 10 o'clock at night and that it be confined to Washington street. In order that this may be done a committee, consisting of A. Metzger, J. C. Schaf and J. C. Gardner, was appointed to urge the Board of Public Works to complete the bridge now under process of construction at the Noble street crossing. Unless this work is far enough advanced to permit the procession to cross the L. E. & W. tracks it would be impossible to execute a counter march, or turn in the street. Various bids from Cincinnati and St. Louis firms on the construction of floats and other paraphernalia needed in the parade were read, but the committee decided to contract for the work with local dealers, and awarded the contracts to the firms of Truemper, Pflumm and Kinklin, of this city. The committee on the arrangement of wagons and platforms reported everything secured and in CONFIRMS THE CONTRACT readiness for the event.

Circular to Chairmen.

While the work of the committees preparing for the encampment is in a very progressive state, there are some things Chairman Lilly, of the executive board, desires to have kept in view. To these he has called attention, in a circular letter sentout yesterday, as follows:

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 10, 1893. To All Chairmen of Committees: It is now little more than three weeks until the beginning of the Twenty-seventh National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, for which preparations have been in progress in Indianapolis for several months. It is important that the committees should complete their arrangements without delay. It is now too late to further defer any work which can be done at this time.

Committees which will necessarily incur expenses should, as promptly as possible, submit specific information regarding expenditures they desire made, but indebtedness for any amount must not be incurred without written authority from the chairman of the executive board or the executive director. In this connection I desire to again call your attention to the following rules of the executive board, which must be rigidly adhered to:

"No indebtedness for any purpose shall be incurred, or will be paid, without a requisition having been first obtained from the executive

"No contract for any amount will be valid or will be paid when not signed by the executive director and approved by the chairman." It is gratifying to me to be able to give the assurance that the prospects at this time for the success of the great reunion of veterans to be held in Indianapolis are highly satisfactory.

The plans for the event are being carried out according to expectations. I hope that each committee will give faithful attention to the duties assigned to it until the close of the encampment, and that all who are participating Marion County Posts and Battalion. Marion county has fifteen posts of the Grand Army, as follows: George H. Thomas, 552 members; Delaney, 64 members; Ruckle, 105 members: Chapman 396 members; Gordon, 104 members; Anderson, 278 members; Sheridan, 80 members; Hovey, West Indianapolis, 29 members; Major Gorryville, Brosa Ripple, 40 members; Acton, Acton, 29 members; Joseph Forsha, 21 mem bers; H. Sherman, Bradford, 12 members; James Beard, Lawrence, 19 members; Cumberland, 41 members: total, 1,787. These posts have been invited to unite in forming a Marion county battalion. All of the larger ones, with a single exception, have signified their purpose to do so. Unselects the colonel, Chapman the lieutenant-colonel, and Anderson, Ruckle (if it should accept) and Gordon the majors, and Sheridan the adjutant. The fifteen posts should turn out 1,200 men for the march. The meeting of committee and officers will be held in Chapman Post headquarters, Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock.

Many Are Coming from Ohio. Ohio had several of her people at headquarters yesterday collecting all the de tails of information serviceable to them in arranging for the presence here of the Grand Army posts they represented. John M. Smalley and R. B. Cantield, of Mitchell Post, Springfield, were of the visitors, and asked for ground on which to pitch tents the post will bring. In this camp will be the survivors of the Seventy-fourth and Forty-fourth Ohio Infantry, Eighth Cavalry and Seventeenth Battery. Darke county is to have a battalion of three hundred, and the purpose of the visit of W. H. Ganger and S. W. Bishop was to secure quarters for that number, the latter being the colonel and the former quartermaster of the battalion. M. E. Griswold, of Montpelier, also procured an assignment of quarters for a large number from that place.

Will Keep Open House. George H. Thomas Post, No. 17, G. A. R., has decided to keep open house for the entertainment of the visiting comrades during the encampment. The committee on programme met Wednesday at the office of Dr. A. Blitz and decided to have a detail of ten or more comrades at their hall on each day to entertain the visitors, besides four other people, whose duty it will be to prepare and serve refreshments during their visits. It has also been decided to present to each visiting comrade a souvenir medal or badge having the bust of Gen. George H. Thomas on one side and on the reverse "George H. Thomas Post, No. 17, G. A. R., Indianapolis, Sept. 5, 1893,

To Preserve the Shiloh Battlefield. There will be a reunion of the survivors of the battle of Shiloh during the encampment. The meeting will be held on Tuesday evening, Sept. 5, at the Superior Court room at the courthouse. The officers of the association are: President, Maj. Gen. John A. McClernand, with a long list of vice presidents from the North and South; treasurer, Dr. J. W. Coleman; secretary, Col. E. T. Lee. One of the principal topics to be considered will be measures for the preservation of the Shileh battlefield.

Ohio's Only Candidate, It has been asserted that the Ohio delegation would be divided upon the choice of commander-in-chief, but it is an error. The delegation will come unanimous for Gen. S. H. Hurst, of Chillicothe, and will give him most enthusiastic support.

Encampment Notes.

W. E. Starr, of Greencastle, was in the city yesterday to secure quarters for three posts that are coming from Putnam county. Saturday's meeting of committees will be those of reunions and fireworks, both occurring at the offices of the citizens' excontive board at 4 P. M.

The Fourth Indiana Cavalry survivors will have their headquarters at the north end of College avenue, on Fall creek. Cots will be furnished without cost, but the veterans will provide their own bedding. Senator Manderson, Generals Stanley and Thomas J. Wood will be guests of General Kneffer during the encampment. General A. McD. McCook will be with R. B. F. Peirce, and Colonel William W. Dudley with Colonel W. R. Holloway. Mrs. Wulschner, chairman of the ladies' executive committee, requests the chairmen of the other ladies' committees to report, from time to time, at headquarters. Wulschner & Son's music store, 42 and 44 North Pennsylvania street. Either she or the secretary will be found there from 10 A. M. to 12:30 P. M., and from 4 to 6 P. M.

Major Ross, of the committee on escort, whose duty will be to meet incoming posts to escort them to places assigned for their accommodation, will have his headquarters at the Union Station, in the room to the right of the north entrance. For the members of the committee in waiting at the station for assignment to duty, room on the second floor formerly occupied by the Big Four company will be used.

Anniversary of Wilson's Creek, Yesterday was the anniversary of the battle of Wilson's creek, at which General Lyons, of St. Louis, was killed, and James E. Twiname, of this city, who was in that engagement, celebrated the event last night with a supper, which was attended by several hundred people. The supper was served on his spacious grounds on Barth avenue. Mrs. Missouri Woodward read a very interesting paper.

Little Fires.

Spontaneous combustion, created by a combination of paints and benzine stored in the stable of Jacob Kroff, at the corner of Madison avenue and Morris street, called out the fire department last night. The loss was $200.

At 9 o'clock the department was summoned to No. 416 South East street by a barning barn belonging to S. P. Olsen. The loss was $50. Thought to be incendiary.

Stable Burned.

At midnight an alarm of fire was sounded from Box 814, at the corner of Seventh and Howard streets. The fire, which was of incendiary origin, was in the stable in the rear of the premises, at the corner of Sixth and Tennesses streets, owned and occupied by F. D. Dittman and son. The loss was

Council Accepts the Proposition to Carry the Old Bonds a Year.

It Will Cost the City 7.3 Per Cent. Interest and Some $3,000 in "Trimmings" -Patrolman Simpson's Trial.

THE COUNCIL AGREES,

Defaulted Bonds to Be Carried by a Life

Insurance Company. The Council, in called session, last night, passed the ordinance approving the contract made by Controller Woollen with the New York Life Insurance Company to take up the $600,000 of outstanding seven and three-tenths per cent. bonds which were defaulted earlier in the summer. It will cost the city $1,500 to have the bonds put in the hands of the life insurance company. and if the city wants to take up the bonds before July 1, 1894, and after Jan. 1, 1894, 18 will cost another one-half per cent. The meeting last night was quite a contrast with the meeting held in the spring when the city had an opportunity to refund these bonds at 4 per cent., but which it failed to do because Sullivan's boss, John P. Frenzel, had other plans. Rassmann, who engineered the scheme to defeat the four-per-cent. refunding plan, was present last night, and, without a bit of bashfulness, he introduced the ordinance calling for the saving of the city's credit, which he Controller Woollen was at the meeting early in the evening with his communication and the ordinance which the city attorney had drawn up. For quite a while there were only thirteen members present, but finally two more came in and there was a quorum. The Controller's communication set forth the proposition, as printed in the Journal yesterday morning, with the tra per cents. thrown in. The New York Life Insurance Company proposed to take up the bonds and hold them at 7.3 per cent. but the New York Security and Trust Company must be paid one-fourth of 1 per cent. for collecting these bonds. This per cent. commission amounts to $1,500, and with the ordinance was an appropriation der the arrangement George H. Thomas of the sum to be paid the trust company. The contract with the company provided that the company shall draw this high rate of 7.3 interest until July 1, 1894, but the city can take up the bonds any time after Jan. 1, 1894, by giving the bondholders thirty days' notice and paying onehalf of 1 per cent. extra.

had by his action jeopardized.

Mr. Woollen, in explaining the proposition, was asked by Mr. Gasper about that certificate of deposit which had been given the city by Coffin & Stanton. He said that the certificate of deposit was a perfectly straight one, and was as good as any certificate that could be purchased at any bank in this city. He said that an attempt had been made to insert certain provisions in the certificate, but that he had refused to have it read in any way except that the money should go into the city treasury in the event the firm did not take the bonds according to their agreement. He thought the city would eventually come out whole on the transaction. Next year the city has $400,000 more of bonds to refund, and the price to be obtained on these bonds would in a great measure depend on the means the city took to extricate itself from the present embarrassing situation. He further added that the representative of a New York company had come into his office a few days ago and offered to take up the entire issue of the four-per-cents at 93 cents on the dollar. This he cited to show that there were people who were not afraid of the legality of the bonds. The ordinance which covered the contract was rushed through to passage, and there was not a dissenting vote. Mr. Gasper, in explaining his vote, said that he only voted for the ordinance because the city was in a very tight place, and her credit was seriously threatened. He had tried to get the city to accept the Banfil proposition, which would have saved it thousands of dollars, but the measure had been defeated. He had borne the brunt of the charges made, but time had vindicated him and showed who the real parties were that deserved blame. He had been in a position to cause the administration much trouble, but although it has got the city in such an em-barrassing position he was unwilling to make the city's credit suffer any more than could be helped. The old bonds can be taken up by the trust company after Aug. 1. The ordinance giving the street car company permission to put inside poles on Central avenue was rushed through to passage. Permission was asked the Council to allow W. F. Thomas, of Columbus, O., to sell books and deliver lectures on the street corners, but a motion embodying the request was defeated by a vote of 8 to 6, There was no other business before the Council.

PATROLMAN SIMPSON'S TRIAL,

Light Evidence Offered to Support the Charges Against Him.

The Board of Safety devoted several hours to the trial of patrolman Simpson last night, on a charge of attempted bribery. The prosecution against him was at the instance of patrolman Winn, a colored member of the force, and patrolman Tieben. Deputy Prosecutor Charles Cox appeared as the attorney for Simpson. The charges against Simpson have been given tull publicity in the newspapers. It was charged that when he and Winn made an arrest in Morgan & Quinn's place of Robert Williams, a colored man, who had picked up a wallet belonging to a man named Meeder, of St. Louis, that Simpson suggested that he and Winn take $5 each from the St. Louis man, who wanted to go home and let the colored man go. Tieben charged that Simpson wanted him to go in with him and collect 50 cents each for some horses that they had picked up. Winn was the first witness, and he detailed the arrest of the colored man. Simpson had said to him: "There is nothing in this case. Let us let this man go. There is $5 apiece in it for us." Winn's evidence showed that there had been some ill feeling between him and Simpson, Simpson had arrested Winn's brother-inlaw, and Winn commented on the way Simpson searched a house without a warant. Simpson had also complained against noises made by Winn's children.

Patrolman Tieben told the story of the horses which they had taken up on Seventh street. Simpson had told him that there was 50 cents each in the case if they did not report it to the station. It also developed that Winn and Nate Ward had reported Simpson off his beat to the superintendent, although permission was given Simpson on this occasion to go out of his district to make an arrest, Tieben said Simpson had left him on one occasion to vote at the Democratic primary. Dan Sanders, a hostler at Dinwiddie's stable, swore that Simpson told him to collect 50 cents each for the horses that had been taken up. Mrs. D. M. Parry told the board that Simpson had recovered a watch for her on one occasion and had refused to take $5 which she offered him, saying that he did not deserve it and that he was not allowed to take it. W. T. Steele, A. A. Anderson and Tom Lewis testified that while Simpson was in their employ as a car conductor he proved himself to be a very competent and an horest man. When Simpson was put on the stand he entered a general denial to the charges made against him. He said, however, that he did not remember what he had said at the time he took up the horses, about fees. Winn charged that Simpson had given warning of a raid to a man named Dunstan, who gambled, at the corner of Sixth street and the Michigan road. He said Dunstan had himself informed him of this fact. Simpson denied that he ever had any conversation at any time with the gambler. The board took Simpson's case under advisement. There is a general 1mpression that the case against him is not very strong, and he has the well-earned reputation of being a very efficient patrol-

Funeral of Mrs. Bunt.

The funeral services of Mrs. Grace Morrison Hunt, wife of Dr. G. E. Hunt and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morrison, were held yesterday afternoon at the family residence of her parente on North Pennsylvania street. Beautiful in death she rested in a white casket which some of her intimate friends had arranged, and around her were floral testimonies of the many who had loved her during her girlhood and her brief wifehood. The services were con-ducted by Rev. J. A. Rondthaler, of the Tabernacle Church, and he spoke touchingly of her life and the warm place she held in the hearts of her friends. Mrs. Danforth Brown sang at the house and also at Crown Hill. When the casket was car ried from the house a pail of smilax, lilies and roses was thrown over it. The palibearers were Dr. Alexander Jameson, Dr. D. A. Thompson, Dr. George Kahlo, Messrs. Bertrand Adams, A. M. Stewart, Arba Perry, Carl Keller and Dr. Harry Kahlo. A large number of friends went with the family to Crown Hill, where the services were concluded.

Mayor Sullivan's Blander Causes a Damage Suit for $50,000 to Be Brought.

Famous Terre Haute Sewer Case-Gapen's "Bucket-Shop" Deal-Tax Case Injunction-Court Briefs.

The next step to be taken in the case of Elenor Mullen, who served three years in the reformatory through the ignorance of Mayor Sullivan, is to be a suit against the city for damages in the sum of $50,000 for having been, without a semblance of right or legality, deprived of her liberty for such a length of time. Harmon J. Everett, her attorney, is now preparing the complaint, and it will be filed in the county clerk's office within a tew days. In addition to the city the board of managers of the institution and Thomas L. Sullivan will be made parties to the suit, which will be vigorously prosecuted for exemplary damages.

The account of how the girl was illegally confined in the institution has been detailed during the past few days, and she will endeavor to hold the city responsible for the act of its "little Mayor."

Gapen Had Been Playing "Bucket Shop," Philip Gapen, ex-treasurer of the hospital for the insane, was plaintiff in an action in Justice Habich's court yesterday, in which he sought to recoup losses entailed by operations on the Chicago Board of Trade, through the agency of a bucket shop in this city. The suit was against Eli P. Brown and Mrs. Mary Fitzgerald, and the account of the transactions leading to the suit, as detailed by Gapen, and as told by the defendants, differs very materially. It all grows out of one thousand bushels of oats, which were bought or sold. Gapen says they were sold and the defendants say they were bought Gapen had been operating upon the board for some time under the name of W. In the Circuit Court, yesterday morning, Judge Brown issued a restraining order against Treasurer Backus restraining him from levying upon the property of the Indianapolis Union Railway Company in satisfaction of the taxes for 1892 claimed to be due by the treasurer. The petition for injunction was filed by Baker & Daniels and A. C. Harris as attorneys for the company. It alleged that the company had on April 11, 1893, paid the accrued taxes for the year 1892 to the amount of $30,064.84, which they alleged was the total amount due upon a fair and ratable assessment, but that the treasurer was threatening to levy upon property of the company for a balance claimed to be due. The petition asked that the treasurer be restrained from levying upon any property of the company pending the final settlement of the tax cases now pending in the courts, the questions involved being the same as those in dispute in the other cases. Judge Brown granted the petition, making it returnable Sept. 13 and the petitioner gave bond in the sum of $150,000 with W. R. McKeen and M. A.

Downing as sureties. Famous Terre Haute Sewer Case,

The State of Indiana vs. Anderson Bruner and others was the title of a case filed on an appeal in the Supreme Court yesterday. The case grows out of the alleged conspiracy of Bruner and others to defraud the city of Terre Haute out of several thousand dollars. Some months ago the city advertised for bids on public work, to cost from the engineer's plans about thousand dollars. It is alleged that contractors of the city plotted together to place their bids at not less than $15,000, thus defrauding the city out of $5,000. The contractors named in the conspiracy were Anderson Bruner, W. J. Irwin, P. C. Fullerton, T. W. Kniser, Jesse Robertson and W. R. Mercer. It is alleged that Robertson and Mercer were to estimate their work at $15,000, the other contractors agreeing to bid various sums over this amount; then, if Robertson and Mercer were awarded the work, they were to pay certain other firms $300 each for their part in the plot.

MEETINGS IN THE WOODS

Camp Acton People Put in an Active Day of Work Yesterday.

Dr. Moore's Eloquent Sermon - Work of the Conventions at Bethany Park-Officers Elected.

If discontented Ikey had been at Camp Acton yesterday morning, he might have seen that the camp was busy enough with religious meetings, even for his active disposition. A well-attended young folks' meeting was followed immediately by the children's meeting, and then by a Bible reading by Professor Hudson, at 10 o'clock, Its subject was, "Rejoice, and again I say, Considering the hot weather, the afternoon audience was very large. Among them, perhaps twenty-five ministers listened to an exquisite sermon, much out of the usual vigorous style of Dr. Moore, of the Western Christian Advocate. His theme was "The Lily of the Valley, and the Bright and Morning Star." He spoke of the lowliness of Christ in his birth, his offering in the temple, his vocation, associates, and his burial in a borrowed tomb. A poor man of the poor men of the earth. God, the infinite, thus brought himself to mingle in the affairs of men, even of those who worship idols. In His infinite goodness, God never sees when He can quit doing good to humanity. He hath made every cup to run over. The discourse closed with the words: "The lily spirit leading the star of life." A meeting of the tent holders was called at 3:30 o'clock and brought out a large number of interested and grieved. Dr. Dashiell presided, and a spirited time followed. The chronic kicker was present in force, and the management had plenty of criticism. As a result a committee was appointed to hear suggestions and grievances. The object is to propose a plan to promote the interests of Camp Acton for another season. The members appointed were Messrs. Havens, Morgan and L. D. Moore and Mesdames Robins and Siddall. Another meeting will be held on Thursday of next week to hear the report of the committee and to transact other business of the association. The evening sermon by Rev. Dolph was from Romans, xv. 16. The altar service that followed was large and interesting. In the afternoon Dr. Buchtel lectured on "How We got Our Bible." In the evening Rev. W. W. Reynolds preached.

Mutual Distrust.

Northwestern Christian Advocate. Some of the banks complain that the people do not have faith in them. Are not some banks too suspicious of the people! We heard a man say, the other day, that one cannot borrow $100 without giving $150 security in money.
